

CONTRIBUTED

Language of empathy in Northwest Corner

Literacy Volunteers on the Green recently graduated 15 new members who will gladly teach so that others may become gratefully at home with the English language. Founded four years ago, the organization has trained more than 140 tutors and worked with more than 400 students, including 10 who have become U.S. citizens. Seen above are the recent graduates who will participate in conducting 60 classes a week in the Northwest Corner, for prospective citizens, those wishing to improve employment prospects, and those who want to more fully integrate into the community: Left to right, Ann Clifford, David Bain, Barbara Leahey, Lorraine Tvrdik, Karen Kenagy, Edna Roman, Maura LaRocca, Roz Molho, Cindy Gugg, Karen Kopta, Janet Meth, Jacqueline Farrell, Deborah Rathbun, and Constance Cheever. Not pictured is Greg Horan. The tutors represent New Milford, Kent, Roxbury, Sharon, Litchfield, and New Fairfield. Details on LVG: (860) 355-0830; info@lvg-ct.org maior; www.lvg-ct.org.

Woodbury lecture features sweet treat

The Klasic Kreations Gourm Larkin and Kelley Ferreira their Woodbury Public Librature on the history of chocolate, bread, and wine for the 40 the Thursday, June 25, event, which beg chocolatiers will also discuss trends in and the health benefits of red wines and as well as engage the audience in a choce ed seating means registration is a mu (203) 263-3502. Details on this and ograms: www.biblio.org/woodbury.

